MATEWAN MURDER TRIALS BEGIN

Twenty-four Men Accused of Killing Baldwin-Felts Detectives During Coal Strike Disorders—Soldiers Guard Court.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Williamson, W. Va., Jan. 26.—In a court room jammed to capacity and in an atmosphere surcharged with tension, the Matewan gun fight trial opened here today, in which twenty-four men are charged with murder, the penalty for which, in this state, is hanging.

Hours before the case was called every seat in the court room was taken. Every bit of standing room in the aisles was occupied. Half of the spectators were women.

Close to Judge Robert Bailey sat Colonel Herman Hale, who is in charge of the federal troops in this district. In a little chamber adjoining the court room, a sergeant of Company G. 19th United States Infantry was on the qui vive.

A signal from him would bring a company of regulars, armed with rifles into the court room. But no such emergency was looked for. While still tense, the feeling here has considerably calmed down since the lifting of the military law.

One by one the defendants' names were called. One by one they answered all but two. One of these was said to be in jail, the other "missing."

Williamson, W. Va., Jan. 26.—Amid the setting of an armed camp, the people of this town flocked to the court house today anxious to witness the biggest and most dramatic legal battle in the history of this section of the country.

Twenty-four men are to be tried before Judge W. R. Bailey in the circuit court on a charge of murder. They are accused of having killed seven of twelve Baldwin-Felts detectives in the now famous gun battle of Matewan, 11 miles east of here, during coal strike disorders.

Long before the court was scheduled to open the streets about the court house were crowded with men and women. Armer soldiers of Company G. 19th Regiment of Infantry, here from Camp Sherman, were on hand for any emergency and kept the way clear for those who had official business in the court house. These, who had official dealings with the law, included, besides the court officials, lawyers and the twenty-four indicted men, more than 300 men summoned for jury duty, scores of witnesses for both sides and reporters.

The court room could hold only about a fourth of the throng clamoring for admission as spectators. Hundreds had to content themselves with standing in the slush-covered streets.

From Matewan, the little mining village nestling in the foothills on the Kentucky-West Virginia border, came Sid Hatfield, chief of police of the village, and the central figure both in the gun battle and the leading drama which is now getting under way.

"Smiling Sid," as he is known to his friends, did not appear to think that the fight was anything extraordinary, which may have been attributed to the fact that he was a member of the famous old feudish clan and was reared in a country where gunplay was common.

The fight lasted nearly two minutes, but cost seven human lives.

"Just a free-for-all," said Hatfield.

RECEIVED BY POPE.

Monsignor Clune, Irish Mediator, Sees Head of His Church.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Rome, Jan. 26.—Monsignor Clune, Archbishop of Perth, who has recently taken an important part in the attempt to bring about peace between the British government and the Irish Republicans, was received in audience by Pope Benedict today.

Monsignor Clune denied that he had been summoned to Rome for the purpose of studying Irish peace possibilities with the Vatican, but it was learned from another source that the Pope is desirous of lending his personal aid towards restoring tranquility in Ireland.

NEW PLUMBING FIRM.

Bernard J. Loughran and Ray F. Cannitz Form Partnership.

Bernard J. Loughran, for many years superintendent of the L. F. Dances Company, and Ray F. Cannitz, a well known local plumber, have formed a partnership to carry on a general plumbing business in this city under the firm name of Loughran & Cannitz. Both are experienced plumbers, and undoubtedly will make a success of their venture.

Disarming Italian Citizens.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Milan, Jan. 26.—As the result of recent clashes between Socialists and anti-Socialists in which many persons were killed and wounded, Italian government troops today began disarming all citizens in the provinces of Bologna, Ferrara and Modena.

Why Go To Florida?

In the "parlor" of Edward Moran's real estate office, there is quite a curiosity in the form of a tropical plant, nearly a century old, and which diffuses heat, a la "Palm Beach," to the great satisfaction and comfort of the habitues of Moran's hospitable spot.—Binghamton Post.

ABRAMOWITZ HAS FINE PROPERTY

In Smith Mansion His $25,000 Secures What Was Planned As Most Complete And Luxurious Residence.

The George J. Smith property on the northeasterly side of Albany avenue which was conveyed Tuesday by Laura N. Smith to Salomon Abramowitz, of Paris, France, and Lawrence, L. I., an account of which was printed in The Freeman Tuesday evening, is one of the finest properties in the city, the residence being a palatial one. The site, on which stood for years the home of the late Cornelius Bruyn, known as Cashier Bruyn, he having been cashier for years of the Ulster County National Bank, was chosen as the spot by the late Hon. George J. Smith upon which to build a palatial residence for a home for himself and wife, where they expected to end their days in peace and comfort under the happiest conditions. The architect in charge studied the location and its immediate surroundings, and was then given a definite outline of what was wanted with little restriction as to cost so long as the best materials were used and most durable construction secured. The Cashier Bruyn mansion that stood upon the site was practically demolished in the creation of the mansion now on the site.

The structure is of Colonial design with a dignified and impressive portal that is accentuated by four large Corinthian columns or pillars. The walls are stuccoed with pure white, as is the heavy street wall in front and every part of the exterior, the entire structure presenting a charming study in white. The roof is of corrugated and indestructible green tile. A broad lawn surrounds the mansion and has an avenue frontage of 231 feet, the building standing back from the street about sixty feet. A concrete walk of pleasing design leads from a gate at the centre of the sloping lawn to the grand portal of the mansion. Maple, elm and hemlock trees shade both the front and rear of the house. At the easterly side of the mansion there is a broad carriage entrance from Albany avenue, making a lovely private driveway that is lined on either side with tall and closely planted maples with interlacing branches that form an archway above. The driveway or lane which is over four hundred feet long leads to the forty-five acres of farming lands below. Shrubs in great variety which were imported at a great expense by the late Mr. Smith were closely banked on one side of the broad driveway. At the rear a lawn extends back about 150 feet to an artistically constructed terrace bank. Mr. Smith intended to have erected a large private conservatory at the right of the terrace or beginning of the slope, but only the substantial concrete foundation for the superstructure was completed, as was a concrete foundation for the garage that had been planned to be erected further to the right. The views of the lowlands, the Esopus creek valley and of the Catskills from the rear are expansive and charming.

As is well known, by reason of the sudden death of Mr. Smith, his carefully designed palatial home has remained in an unfinished condition for several years, this being especially true as to the interior of the house. Upon Mr. Smith's death the work stopped at once, although much of the material needed for its completion had been ordered and has been on hand, an advantage to Mr. Abramowitz, the new owner. The kitchen, rooms adjoining, and a few of the upper chambers have been finished. The main portion of the residence with its elaborate designed interior decorations is yet to be completed, as is the conservatory and garage.

There are six main rooms on the first floor. From the entrance corridor one enters the living room, 20x24, next to the right being the dining room, 16x24, where some of the elaborate decorations are in place, including a large French plate mirror, ornamented ceiling and side walls. Leading from this room, further to the right, is a charming "breakfast porch," about 10x14. A large attractive music room, 16x20, is at the left of the main entrance, and beyond this is the "palm room." The culsine department, which was most elaborately fitted with appliances of the latest design for convience and comfort, is in a wing projection in the rear. Butlers' pantries and closets and shelves are between this kitchen proper, which is 14x18, and the dining room.

The front porch entrance is about 20 feet long with a broad piazza on the right, 15x33 feet, a grass terrace 32 feet long being on the left, while on the right of the house, near "Maple Lane," the broad driveway, is an artistic designed porte cochere, making a total front projection of about 100 feet. The second floor contains four bed rooms, 16x20 feet each, a sleeping porch, while a cheery morning room faces Albany avenue and the morning sun. There are three elegantly fitted bath rooms on this floor with every modern appliance, with numerous wardrobes and closets. On the third floor is a guest chamber, 24x24, also another bed room, 15x16, four servants' bed rooms and two bath rooms.

The property which is above described was purchased by Mr. Abramowitz for $25,000. D. G. Atkins represented Laura N. Smith, the owner, Henry Klein the purchaser, and Max Goldmann, the real estate agent through whom the sale was made.

BARGE TERMINAL BILL INTRODUCED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Jan. 26. (Special)—A bill has been introduced by Senator Walton of Kingston providing for an appropriation of $1,893,000 for the purpose of constructing barge canal terminals at Kingston, Newburgh, Poughkeepsie and Yonkers. A similar bill has been introduced in the assembly.

VAN STEENBERGH LOSES APPEAL

Balance on Suit Bought For His Son From Max Jacobson Was $12 But Court Costs Have Increased Judgment.

In county court Judge Joseph M. Fowler has affirmed the judgment in favor of plaintiff given by City Judge Harry E. Schirick in the case of Max Jacobson, plaintiff-respondent, against Abram Van Steenbergh, defendant-appellant. This is an action in which Jacobson, a well-known clothing dealer, corner the Strand and Hasbrouck avenue, sued Van Steenbergh to recover $12, balance due on a suit of clothes for a son of defendant, the price of which was $37. The father paid $25, leaving the balance of $12 which was sued for. Mr. Jacobson testified that the father had been asked several times for the balance and had promised to pay same but had failed to do so. Mr. Van Steenbergh testified that he went to the Jacobson store with his son, in July 1919, and that the suit was bought and that his son asked him for $25 which he handed him and it was paid on the suit, which was left at the store for alterations and that his son got the suit later. Mr. Van Steenbergh further testified that he never got a bill for the balance, but a note from Mr. Klein who was Jacobson's attorney, to come to his office and pay the balance with interest; that he did not pay any attention to it as his son bought the suit and owed the money. After hearing the testimony City Judge Schirick, on August 20, 1920, rendered judgment in favor of plaintiff and against the defendant for $20.61, being damages, allowance and costs. From this judgment defendant appealed to county court, defendant asking reversal on the ground that the complaint does not state that the parties are residents of the City of Kingston, or that the action is otherwise within Section 2 869 of the Code. Judge Fowler in his memoranda, says: "Whatever the facts may be as to the actual residence of the parties, the record shows that the defendant filed an answer and went to trial on the merits and it is now too late to urge the objection made. Judgment is affirmed with costs. Chris. J. Flanagan, appeared for defendant-appellant; Henry Klein for plaintiff-respondent.

GERMANS TO TRADE WITH REDS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Jan. 26.—A commercial agreement has been concluded between Germany and soviet Russia, it was announced at Riga by Victor Kopp, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Riga today.

Kopp, who is enroute for Moscow from Berlin, said that announcement of the trade agreement would be made in the reichstag shortly.

Kopp is the envoy of the soviet government in Germany. He recently departed from Berlin in company with Leonid Krassin, head of the bolshevist trade mission, which had been negotiating with the British government.

CHARGES GERMAN MISERY IS SHAM

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Jan. 26.—Charges that Germany is hiding resources, pretending misery and hindering disarmament by the allies are contained in a statement issued by General Nollet, chief of the French military mission at Berlin, before he departed for Paris to attend the supreme council meeting, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Berlin today.

General Nollet was quoted by the Exchange Telegraph correspondent as saying:

"The impression that there is ill will on the part of the Germans against execution of the disarmament clauses of the treaty is only too true. They are constantly bringing up difficulties to prevent us from entering factories, military schools and ports. When obliged to admit the concealment of engines of war they seem making all sorts of excuses. Much disarming remains to be done. The German authorities must be made to understand that they cannot obtain amelioration from the control commission except on proof of good faith. The Germans, however, seem to be unchanged from pre-war days.

"They have learned nothing from the war. Regarding reports of unemployment and famine nothing of the sort obtains.

"The exports exceed the imports. Interests reach as high as 33 per cent. The protected industry is nothing but profiteers."

CARRIERS ATTACK WAGE AGREEMENTS

Claim Shopmen and Others Receive Millions They Do Not Earn and That All War Time Measures Should Be Ended—Roads Want to Make Agreements of Own With Men.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Railroad labor today faced the possible loss of some of the biggest concessions gained from the carriers in a quarter century. The challenge was given by the rail executives, that the workers must surrender advantages covered by the so-called "national agreements" made during the war. Agreements now under attack, in conferences with the railroad labor board, were sanctioned by the railroad men. But the rail executives, almost a year after the return of the roads to private control, today placed themselves solidly on record as opposed to continuing them and the assertion was made that they must go the way of other war measures.

Concerted moves by the rail executives to abolish, or at least radically modify the existing agreements, on the score that the reasons for which they were promulgated no longer exist, come at a time when the railroads are united in a nation-wide effort to reduce operating forces to the lowest minimum consistent with safety of operation. Leading spokesmen for the railroads, summing up their opposition to the agreements charge that the rules under which members of the various shop crafts are now working result in "extortion" of large sums of money from the railroads for labor which is not performed.

The railway employes, who seek to perpetuate those agreements, include the shopmen, maintenance of way employes, clerks, firemen and oilers and signal men. Organized labor is solidly opposed to any modifications in the existing agreements, contending that they have bettered working conditions of the laborers.

The carriers want the Railway Labor Board to approve a new system of separate agreements between carriers and workmen. President Rea, of the Pennsylvania, President Willard of the Baltimore and Ohio, and other executives are said to favor the method of individual railways having agreements with their own men regarding working and other conditions. On behalf of the rail heads, it was emphasized before the board that separate agreements between the railroads and the principal rail service crafts, which have been in effect many years, have operated successfully and with benefit to the workmen.

Briefs submitted on behalf of the railroads, assailing the "national agreements," set forth that they were entered into with the understanding that they were justified only during the "emergency conditions" growing out of the war. The conditions which warranted the many rules thereby set up have passed, the roads contend. By abolishing or modifying the provisions of the agreements, a waste of funds amounting to many millions of dollars, will be stopped, according to the carriers' counsel.

FEAR TNT.

Twenty-Five Cars of Stuff Stored In Wyoming Hills.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Laramie, Wyo., Jan. 26.—The Albany County Cattle and Horse Growers' Association, composed of nearly all the stockmen in the county, has petitioned the United States government to place a guard at the TNT explosive plant located in the mountains east of this city, more than twenty-five cars of the high explosive being stored there now. The stock growers insist that the building is flimsy, and boys hunting in the neighborhood might possibly fire a shot that would explode the contents, endangering property here and the large number of cattle grazing on the Pole Mountain Military Reserve. The explosive station could be reached by fire starting in the grass surrounding it, or any one of a half dozen means might result in setting off the whole works.

Craig Accepts Ulster Premiership.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Jan. 26.—Lieutenant Colonel Sir James Craig, Unionist member of parliament, today accepted the post as premier of Ulster province. Sir Edward Carson had refused the position. Salvation Army Lassies Who Have Dedicated Lives To Service In Java Will Conduct Services Here.

There will be special services at the Salvation Army hall next Monday and Tuesday evenings, conducted by two Salvation Army missionary lassies. These young women have seen service in foreign missionary fields, and are now on their way to the leper colony in Java conducted by the Salvation Army, which means a life sacrifice, and that they shall not see their country or loved ones again. All are cordially invited to hear these devoted women. Services at 8 o'clock. These young women, Captain Elizabeth Brooks and Alice Riggs, will tell many interesting facts of their work.

PRIZE PUPILS AT SCHOOL NO. 4

Milton Katz Wins The Seth Staples Memorial Prize of $10 by Attaining the Highest Average in All Regents' Subjects—Other Prize Winners.

By attaining the highest average in all the Regents' subjects, Milton Katz of School No. 4 in Ponckhockie, won the Seth Staples memorial prize of $10 offered by Mrs. Staples to the pupil in the graduating class who secures the highest standing. Master Katz's average was 94 per cent. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Katz of No. 64 Abruyn street, and is to be congratulated on his excellent record.

Mrs Staples also offered a five dollar prize to the pupil receiving the highest standing in spelling during the term, and a five dollar prize to the pupil receiving the highest average in all grade subjects. The spelling prize was won by Ruth Carlyn of the fourth grade, whose average was 97 per cent, and the general average prize was won by Gladys Nickerson of the seventh grade, whose average was 91 per cent.

CAPTAIN KOENIG LOST AT SEA

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Berlin, Jan. 26.—A report that Captain Paul Koenig, commander of the German commercial submarine Deutschland, which made two voyages to the United States in 1916, has been lost at sea was officially confirmed by the department of highseas fisheries today, according to a dispatch from Cuxhaven.

Another dispatch from Rohr, home of Captain Koenig, quoted members of Koenig's family as saying they had given up all hope for his safe return.

Captain Koenig was commander of the fishing boat, "Senator" Michaelis."

NEWBURGH C. OF C. DRIVE SUCCEEDS

The reorganization of the Newburgh Chamber of Commerce has been successfully carried through. With 600 members as the objective, the campaign closed Monday night with a total membership of 636.

There are several corporations from which plural memberships are expected, and a number of individuals have partly promised to join the organization, so that when the real work of reorganizing by electing a board of directors is taken up, the chamber will probably have a membership of 700.

The final meeting of the teams was held in the Hotel Palatine Monday evening. A silver loving cup was presented to the team headed by R. F. Applegate, it having secured the most members, 75. The cup will become the possession of the reorganized chamber after it has been suitably inscribed.

BENNETT LECTURE MONDAY EVENING

The first of the course of the Bruce Bennett lectures on Modern Literature and Authors, will be given on Monday evening at the chapel of the First Dutch Reformed Church at 8 o'clock. The subject of this lecture will appeal to a large reading public, for who does not know somewhat of and like Robert Louis Stevenson? Mr. Bennett will make one better acquainted with Stevenson and will also increase one's liking for him, if it may be increased. There will be two kinds of course tickets besides single tickets. The course tickets for adults will cost $1 for the four lectures, while the course tickets for high school students will cost 50 cents, as will single tickets. Tickets may be bought at the door on Monday evening if not already purchased.

To Speak in Binghamton.

COYKENDALL ACTION IN WEST SHORE CROSSING MATTER IS BEGUN

His Attorney Insists That City's Taxpayers Must Pay Only Proportionate Share—Mayor Contends City Will Derive Benefit Equal to Its Expenditure and Says Delay May Mean Loss of State Aid For Many Years.

The taxpayer's action brought by Edward Coykendall to enjoin the city of Kingston from paying more than the legal proportionate share of the cost of eliminating the Broadway grade crossing of the West Shore and Wallkill Valley railroads was taken up for trial this morning before Judge Nichols. Judge Clearwater appeared for Mr. Coykendall and Mayor Canfield for the city.

Mr. Coykendall does not seek to interfere with the elimination of the grade crossing but brings the action to limit the city to its legal proportionate share which under the law is one quarter of the cost of construction to be paid by the city, one quarter by state funds and one half by the railroad. The action is brought for the sole purpose of preventing the taxpayers from being compelled to pay more than the amount allowed by law.

Under an order made by the Public Service Commission the city of Kingston must pay the cost of reconstructing sewers, sidewalks, water mains, guard rails, etc., which would have to be re-located when the crossing was eliminated and in addition pay property damages in excess of $125,000. Property damages up to that sum would be shared proportionately by the city, state and railroad, but any damage over that amount would be charged entirely to the city.

When the city officials and common council approved the proposition limiting the amount which would be shared by the railroad and making the city liable to property damages in excess of $125,000, Mr. Coykendall brought a taxpayer's action and secured an injunction restraining the city from proceeding with the matter.

In opening his case Judge Clearwater stated that Mr. Coykendall did not object to the elimination but objected to the city binding itself to pay any sum in excess of the $125,000 for property damages, and the action was brought for the purpose of restraining the city from carrying out the order and paying out funds, in excess of those set down by law. Mr. Coykendall in no way opposed the elimination and did not wish to interfere or hold it up but wanted the city to be limited to its proportionate share.

The present injunction was granted by Judge Hasbrouck and trial set for the December term of supreme court and an adjournment taken until today.

Mayor Canfield who appeared for the city in defence of the action, stated that the agreement entered into by the city to pay all property damages over $125,000 and to pay all cost of relocating water mains, sewers, gas mains, erecting a guard rail, etc., was a just one as the city was being directly benefited and this was in the nature of a permanent improvement whereby the city benefited. Under the present plans which have been made the city received greater benefit than the law contemplates in the usual elimination. The elimination of the Broadway crossing was more than an elimination it was a city improvement and direct benefit to the city.

The present pavement on Broadway at the West Shore crossing is worn out and would have to be replaced at city expense, said Mayor Canfield, the water mains have been down for years and will soon have to be relaid. The plans first called for an iron fence around the subway and this had been changed to a concrete guard rail in order to beautify the city and also for sanitary purposes and safety. This was a direct benefit to the city and should be paid for by the city.

The exact meaning of the order of the public service commission and the agreement entered into by the city came up for discussion, Mayor Canfield contending that the city was liable only for their proportionate share of construction cost if the cost exceeded the engineer's estimated amount and that the city agreed to pay all over $125,000 for property damages. The position of a comma in the order somewhat altered the meanig but in a revised order sent out later by the commission the comma was eliminated and Judge Nichols and Judge Clearwater agreed with the mayor that the intention of the commission was that the city be liable only for property damages in excess of $125,000, up to that amount all were jointly liable for property damages.

In order that the work of eliminating the crossing be started at once Mayor Canfield stated that for years he had worked for the elimination but had failed to get a hearing before the commission as there were no funds available for such work until 1919. Funds now have been set aside for the state's share of the work but unless the work was started soon the moneys might be used for some other elimination as there were orders clamoring for the money. If the funds were used for other work it might be ten or twenty years before another appropriation could be secured.

A number of witnesses have been subpoenaed and considerable testimony will be placed before the court. The case was continued this afternoon when the court recessed at five o'clock.

GUESSERS GIVE FALL A BERTH

New Mexico Senator, On Houseboat With Harding, Most Logical Choice For Secretary of Interior—Has Knowledge of West And Mexico And Would Form Needed Link With Senate.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Jan. 26.—While President-elect Harding is vacationing in the Florida sunshine he is by no means giving all his attention to his golf clubs and the fish in Indian river, according to information drifting northward into senatorial circles today. In between the shots and fish the president-elect is giving serious consideration to plugging up the few remaining cabinet holes.

It would surprise few of his colleagues in the senate if Senator Albert B. Fall, of New Mexico, returned to Washington with a cabinet pledge. The New Mexico senator is now sojourning on the Indian river houseboat, where he went at the earnest solicitation of the president-elect.

It is generally felt by Senator Harding and a number of prominent Republicans in the senate that there should be one sitting senator chosen for a cabinet post. They believe it would do much towards promoting a cordial relationship between the White House and the capitol to "have the senate represented." One of the things, it has been pointed out, that made the Wilson administration experience tough sledding with the capitol at times, was the fact that there was very little personal relationship between Mr. Wilson and his advisors and the senators on the hill. It is the desire of the Republicans to prevent any such recurrence by having some representation at the other end of the avenue.

Senator Harding is known to be having difficulty in chosing a man for the job as secretary of the interior. Logically, the post calls for a western man, familiar with the conditions and needs of the west, and it is in connection with this portfolio that Senator Fall is reported to have been summoned to join the houseboat party. Fall has spent most of his life in the west; he knows intimately the natural needs of the country, and aside from all this he is an acknowledged authority on Mexico. In the cabinet he would be in an excellent position to give the president much available information on the formation of a new Mexican policy.

Fall's appointment would kill another of Harding's worries. The tentative cabinet slates so far reported have failed to include a far western representative and this fact has been the cause of some dissatisfaction on the part of far westerners who feel they are being slighted. Fall is a far westerner.

Washington gossip has connected Fall's name with the state and department of justice portfolios also, but it is not believed he will be found in either of these after March 4.

Republican senators generally would greet the New Mexican's appointment with well nigh unanimous approval. They would feel that they had some direct representation in the executive branch of the government to whom, by reason of long years of working in the same harness, they could go along with and work freely.

HARDING PLAYS ON GRASS GREENS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Fort Pierce, Fla., Jan. 26.—President-elect Harding smacked a clean 200 yard drive down the fairway at the Fort Pierce golf course this morning. He squared his shoulders, expanded his chest and announced: "This is great."

This was his second day of golf over a well laid out course with grass greens and he enjoyed it to the utmost. After spending the night at anchor between Vero and Fort Pierce, the president-elect was up early and the party on board the houseboat Victoria prepared to continue toward Palm Beach later today. They will anchor far from any habitation tonight.

Cabinet discussion, it is understood, has played a small part in the conversations on board the Victoria, but there is strong support for the belief that Senator A. B. Fall may be induced to accept the portfolio of the interior and that Charles Evans Hughes will be secretary of state. Fall, Cutcheon and Doherty have been busy preparing data on domestic problems for the president elect.

OPEN AIR SCHOOL AN ULSTER NEED

And Lack of Tuberculosis Hospital Beds Is Keenly Felt By Returned Delegation to State Meeting—Greatest Danger of Infection Is Up to Five Years of Age, Says Dr. O'Meara.

Dr. Mary Gage-Day, member of the board of managers of the Tuberculosis Hospital, and a member of the state committee on tuberculosis and public health of the State Charities Aid Association, Dr. Mark O'Meara, vice-president of the board of managers of the Tuberculosis Hospital and chairman of the committee of the nursing activities for tuberculosis and Red Cross work, and Dr. Adin C. Gates, superintendent of the Tuberculosis Hospital, attended the meeting of the state committee on tuberculosis and public health of the State Charities Aid Association at the Hotel Biltmore in New York, on Saturday and have returned with renewed interest in anti-tuberculosis work, both locally and on a state wide basis.

A resume of the present status of the tuberculosis problem in this state and what is considered to be the best line of treatment has been made for The Freeman by Dr. Mark O'Meara, and is presented herewith:—At this meeting notable addresses were made by national, state and local workers in the tuberculosis field. Among the speakers were Sir Arthur Newsholme of England, State Health Commissioner Herman M. Biggs, Dr Charles J. Hatfield of the National Tuberculosis Association, Homer Folks, secretary of the State Charities Aid Association, George J. Nelbach of the committee on public health, and others.

Sir Arthur Newsholme, who is an international authority in preventive medicine and public health administration, emphasized the point that there is need of extended and more systematic work in every county of the state. He also emphasized the fact that the highest death rate of any period of life is in the first five years of life, and in the first year after birth, one death out of every twenty-six from all causes is certified to be due to tuberculosis, although the real proportion is much higher because many deaths reported as due to pneumonia or bronchitis are really cases of acute tuberculosis. The fact is that in childhood there is but little resistance to the infection of tuberculosis. If we are to reduce the amount of tuberculosis and save children's lives the prevention of exposure to infection during the first five years of life is of supreme importance. In order to accomplish this it is necessary to so manage the advanced and moderately advanced cases of tuberculosis in adults, from whom infection generally comes, that they will not be capable of infecting others. It has been found that the most effective means of preventing the spread of this infection is to have the tuberculous patients cared for in hospitals. Under hospital care they are not only given the best chance for recovery, but they are taught so to care for themselves that they are no longer instrumental in spreading this disease.

Emphasis was laid upon the importance of detailed care in respect to housing for the tuberculosis sick, including the provision of separate bed room accommodation, either at home or in a hospital—if for no other reason than to protect young children from an imminent danger.

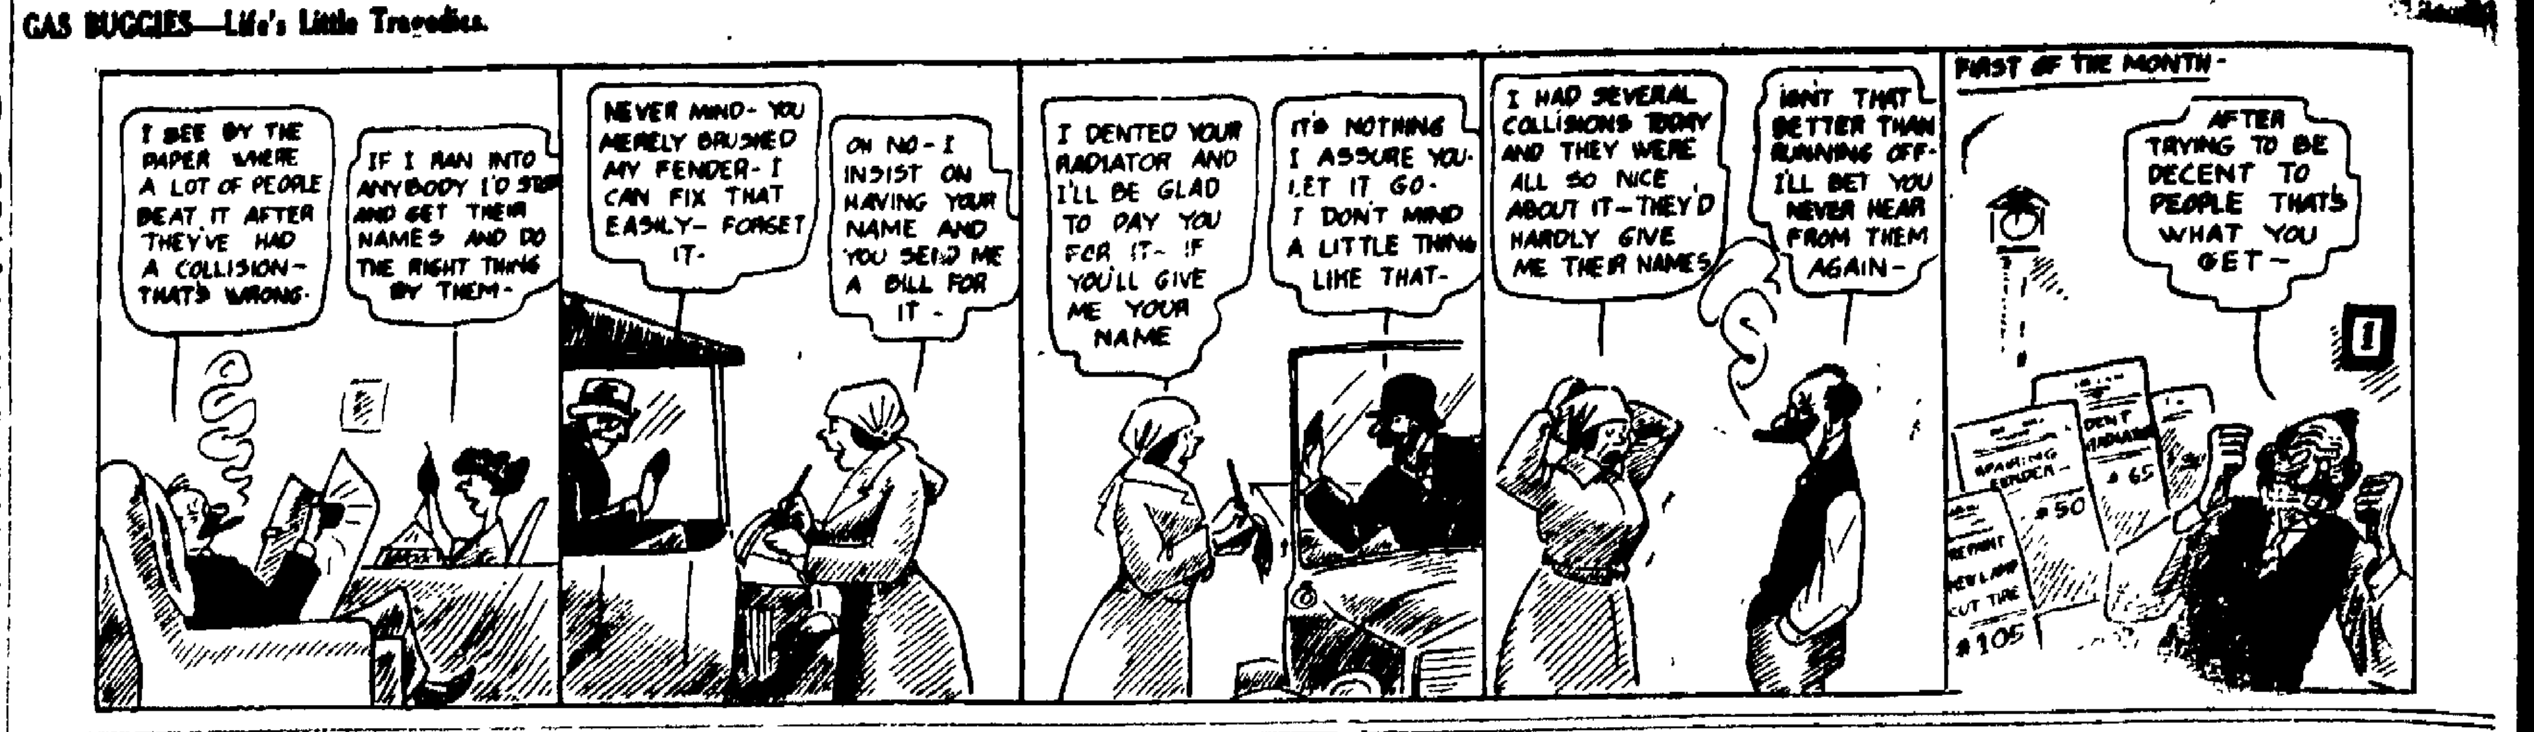

We cannot hope in the complex circumstances of modern life to prevent infection entirely, but as a result of better management, including hospitalization of tuberculous patients we can hope to diminish the frequency of infection, for the prevention of tuberculosis depends upon increasing the resistance of the individual to infection, and preventing or diminishing the frequency and dosage of infection. Such measures as the diminution of uncleanly habits in coughing and expectorating, early care of the "common cold," the provision of plenty of fresh air, as for instance the more common use of sleeping porches, are all useful measures in the prevention of this disease.

It must be emphasized that the housing of children with a tuberculous patient constitutes a terrible danger to the children.

At the same time it is important that the standard health should be maintained, that good housing should prevail, that nutrition should be on a high level. These two lines of action are not alternative, but mutually complementary. Our chief aims must therefore be to minimize infection, especially during the early years of life and to promote all efforts of child welfare work and every branch of public health work.

An examination of the record of the forty-eight years' work of a State Charities Aid Association shows that the ideal of cooperation with existing health agencies has been attained, and frequently this organization has paved the way for advanced and progressive public health legislation. It was the consensus of opinion of the speakers that present agencies for the prevention and treatment of tuberculosis need support and extension, and that it was gratifying to know the efforts made to secure free and better medical examination for the needy tuberculous, of the opening of new hospitals for consumptives, of assistance given to existing tuberculosis hospitals, of the introduction of occupational therapy into some institutions, of the employment of visiting nurses, of the opening of fresh air schools for tuberculous children, and so on.

It is the opinion of Dr. O'Meara that while fairly satisfactory progress has been made toward securing better milk in the city of Kingston, yet there is room for improvement in this particular. It is his opinion that no milk should be offered for sale unless it comes from tuberculous-free herds. It was the opinion of the members who attended the conference that while a start has been made in tuberculosis prevention in Kingston and Ulster county, one of the great omissions is that there is no open air school in the county and also that there is a very great lack of tuberculosis hospital beds.

Albany Churches Advertise.

The Federated Men's Clubs, composed of various organizations of male communicants of Albany Protestant churches, are using large display advertisements in the Albany daily and Sunday newspapers in connection with a campaign to interest men of the city in regular attendance at church services. The leaders of the campaign attribute much of the good results already obtained to the pulling power of the "ads." The latter were backed up by ample news stories, to which all the papers carrying the "Go to Church" displays gave generous space.

TILLSON.

Tillson, Jan. 25.—Mrs. Abe Tews is ill at this writing. Dr. Hasbrouck is attending her.

We are glad to hear that Mrs. R. Demarest is improving.

Clarence Deyo is spending a few days' vacation at his home here.

Coffee—The Popular Drink!

Coffee is the most democratic of all drinks. The laborer drinks it from his dinner pail by the roadside; the millionaire sips it from a costly cup in his mansion.

For years the tempting fragrance and delicious flavor of REYNOLDS RELIANCE COFFEE has appealed to everyone. It is a savory blend of mellowed coffees carefully selected. Its rich, smooth flavor is enhanced by scientific roasting. Its wholesome goodness assured by a special process of grinding which removes the bitter chaff.

Remember to ask for RELIANCE. It is always fresh at your grocer's—guaranteed to please or your money back. The Wm. T. Reynolds Co., Inc., Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

BERGDOLL FOUND BUT ESCAPES

Plan of Three Americans to Kidnap Him From Germany Fails Through and Millionaire Draft Dodger Is Still Free.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Berlin, Jan. 26.—Definite information that Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, millionaire American draft dodger, has been living at Eberbach, in Baden, is contained in a Frankfort dispatch to the Lokal Anzieger today, which gave a detailed account of an effort by three Americans to capture the Philadelphian and secure the $60,000 reward.

Bergdoll was accompanied by another American named Stetcher and the venturesome attempt to capture them landed the three Americans in jail and one German in the hospital.

The Americans, learning of Bergdoll's whereabouts, rented an automobile and drove to Eberbach. They encountered Bergdoll driving an automobile to the Eberbach station to meet a party of wedding guests.

One of the Americans shouted: Halt, or it will cost you your life!" Instead of complying, Bergdoll put on speed and attempted to escape. The Americans opened fire on the fleeing car, wounding one of the occupants in the arm. A crowd, attracted by the shooting, rushed into the street and the pursuing car had to slow down. The police arrested the Americans, who admitted they had no official warrant for Bergdoll. They said they had planned to kidnap the draft dodger and carry him into the American military zone of occupation, where he could be formally arrested by the American military authorities. The captors hoped thus to get the $60,000 reward.

BAGGAGE THEFTS HUGE IN YEAR

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Jan. 26.—Baggage worth between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000 has been stolen from railroads entering New York city within the past year, it was declared in court here today. Roger B. Wood, head of a bureau organized by the railroads to run down the baggage thieves, made the declaration when three members of the band of baggage thieves were arraigned.

The trio had pleaded guilty, two of them, men, to grand larceny and the third, a woman, to receiving stolen property. The men were sentenced to Sing Sing for from three and one half to eight years and the woman was remanded until a more thorough investigation of her case can be made.

Wood said that the baggage, consisting mostly of trunks, were stolen from terminals. The thieves, he declared, had confederates employed in the baggage rooms.

PREMIERS FIND IT HARD TO AGREE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Jan. 26.—British foreign office officials were frankly pessimistic this afternoon over the outcome of the Supreme Council meeting in Paris. They declared that the announced intention of the British delegation to return home at the end of this week may hasten the deliberations, but doubt was expressed if any definite decisions would be reached, except possibly upon the procedure for German disarmament.

In foreign office circles it is not expected that there will be an agreement upon German indemnity—either the total amount that Germany will be called upon to pay, or the methods of payment.

Regarding Russia, the officials were silent.

The statements were significant as indicating that the differences of opinion between Great Britain and France upon matters growing out of the Versailles treaty had not been bridged.

The Sanctity of Property.

A Better America lecture, illustrated by the stereopticon, will be given by Dr. Ellis in the Rondout Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening, January 30. Our government has been urging upon us thrift and thrift campaigns are in operation throughout the land. The Associated Savings have asked the pastors of the state to preach on the moral and religious aspects of thrift, but deeper and more fundamental than thrift is the sanctity of life and its correlative, "The Sanctity of Property." "No state is safe," said Abraham Lincoln, "that does not assure security to the property of its citizens." Pictures, some beautiful, some tragic, will illustrate this subject, than which none is more important to the people of America today. This is the third of the series of Better America lectures prepared by Rexell Dwight Hillis and the pictures will be identical with those shown by Dr. Hillis in Plymouth Church, Brooklyn.

Want Troopers Reprimanded.

The Dutchess county grand jury has directed Major George F. Chandler, superintendent of the state police, to reprimand Sergeant Joseph Lynch and Trooper Mortimer J. Berger for the alleged manner in which they accomplished the arrest of Stephen S. Mapes of Poughkeepsie. The entire evidence taken by the grand jury has been forwarded to Major Chandler.

Colleys Fight Tonight.

The Colley boys, Vince and Joe, will be the main attraction this evening at the Argonne Club hosts in Poughkeepsie, when Vince meets Johnny Martin, and Joe bouts Bernardo. A number of Kingston fans will attend the bouts, and the Hallock-Poughkeepsie ferry is expected to make a special trip after the bouts.

BRITAIN DRY WHEN U. S. IS

"Pussyfoot" Johnson Says Lloyd-George Expects It In Ten Years After U. S. Enforces Law—British Liquor Men Denounce America.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Lloyd-George expects prohibition to overtake England if the United States makes good in enforcing the dry laws, according to W. H. (Pussyfoot) Johnson, who arrived here today.

"'If America makes good and enforces her prohibition law, England herself will be dry within ten years,' is what the British prime minister recently told a friend of mine," Johnson declared.

"It is being generally recognized in Europe that, if the United States stands pat on her dry policy, the whole world will be compelled to do the same for economic reasons, whether they wish to or not," Johnson said. "Europe and particularly Britain can not compete with dry America in the markets of the world.

"British liquor interests are scared stiff and are spending money in torrents slandering America and American institutions. How much British money is being used in America in fomenting trouble, God only knows, I don't.

"England is more concerned about our prohibition policy than our action as to the league of nations or anything else. Her troubles in India, Egypt and in even Ireland are largely caused by the liquor traffic. There is less trouble in America than in any other civilized nation on earth, except in prohibition Finland and probably Norway."

MISS SPELLMAN BELIEVED SAFE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Jan. 26.—Miss Blanche Spellman, pretty 18 year old Barnard College student, who mysteriously disappeared last Monday, bought hundreds of dollars worth of clothes and a suit case on that day, it was learned today. With the Bureau of Missing Persons centering all of its attention on Miss Spellman's disappearance and with her description in the hands of every policeman in Greater New York, her family believed she would soon be found. The fact that she had purchased clothes on the day she disappeared was taken to mean that she had vanished of her own accord and that no harm has befallen her.

It was established that she took luncheon Monday at the Pennsylvania Hotel. She was seen there late Monday afternoon and detectives working on the case declared they have reason to believe she took a train for Chicago Monday night.

Miss Spellman was a close friend of Mme. Tettrazini. Friends said the girl had theatrical ambitions and the theory was advanced that she may have gone to Chicago to obtain an engagement.

MATTERS BEFORE THE SURROGATE

In Surrogate's court in the matter of the petition for a judicial settlement of the accounts of Reeve Schley and B. R. Mott, trustees of the last will and testament of Ada Schley deceased, late of the town of Shandaken, for the benefit of Helen Schley Yates, a decree has been issued discharging the trustees. The trustees credited themselves with $157,093.49 principal; losses, $4,202.12; amount distributed to Helen Schley Yates, $149,283.20, balance, $3,608.17. The trustees were further charged with $57,915.23 income; expenses, $4,451.46; paid to Helen Schley Yates, $50,685.86; leaving a balance of $3,777.91. The surrogate ordered that the accounts be judicially settled after payment of $1,653.91 to each of the trustees from the income balance, and the payment of the $50.35 income balance, and the $2,777.91 balance of the estate to Helen Schley Yates. Robert D. Elder of New York represented the trustees in the estate.

In surrogate's court letters of administration have been issued to James A. Redican in the estate of John S. Redican, deceased, late of the city of Kingston. The value of the estate is given as $3,500 real; $1,000 personal. Van Etten & Cook are the attorneys for petitioner.

Letters of administration have been issued to Marion L. Lounsbery, Stone Ridge, in the estates of Anna Lounsbery and of Mary R. Lounsbery both deceased, late of the town of Marbletown. The value of the former estate is $500 personal, and of the latter, $4,000 real and $2,500 personal. Reeve V. Ellsworth is attorney for petitioner in each case.

Patrons' Committee Meeting.

A meeting of the members of the patrons' committee of the K. of C. charity ball, William O'Reilly, chairman, has been called for Thursday night of this week at the K. of C. House on Broadway. As the patrons' list will be completed for publication at this meeting, a full attendance is requested for a final report in order to have all names of those desiring to be patrons on the completed list.

BUT FEW HOUSES WILL BE BUILT

Indications now point to the fact that but few, if any, houses will be erected in Kingston this year due to the high cost of materials and labor. A well known architect is quoted as stating that it would cost at least $5,000 to erect an ordinary sized dwelling, and that the rent to be derived from it would not pay from the standpoint of an investment.

Residential building has been slack in Kingston, as well as in other cities, for several years, and those who profess to know do not believe that there will be a tendency to build dwellings for some time to come. Before the war it was possible for those desiring to have a home built to do so for $2,000 for a moderate sized cottage. It was possibly to erect a six room house with modern conveniences for a sum ranging from $2,500 to $3,000. The same dwelling today would cost at least $2,000 more to build it is said.

ARMENIAN REVOLT.

Against Soviets Predicted By General Sebouh.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Constantinople, Jan. 26.—With anarchy and starvation desolating Armenia, the Armenian Revolutionary Committee is preparing for a general uprising against the Soviet, according to General Sebouh, of the Armenian army, who arrived here today.

General Sebouh, who is known as the "hero of Kars," gave the following picture of Armenian conditions:

"The Armenian nation is overwhelmingly opposed to Bolshevism. The clique of Commissaires, composing the Erivan Soviet, is unable to control the situation. The entire country is in a state of hopeless disorder. Anarchy and starvation are rife. The Armenian revolutionary committee has decided to fight to the bitter end against Bolshevism. Thousands of men are hiding in the mountains, making the task of administration along communist lines difficult."

WANTS SIMS PUNISHED

For Criticising Admiral Fein Sympathizers Here.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Boston, Jan. 26.—Thomas A. Niland, state representative, telegraphed Secretary of the Navy Daniels today, asking for the court martial of Admiral William S. Sims, U. S. N. At a mass meeting of the Loyal Coalition in Symphony Hall last night Admiral Sims is reported to have said it passed his understanding to comprehend how any American of Irish descent could support a party (Sinn Fein) that was the implacable enemy of the allies during the war. Niland charged Sims with "participating as a British propagandist" at the meeting.

"I believe a blue jacket would have been punished for this, why not Sims" asked Niland of Daniels.

DISCUSSION ON SAVING FORESTS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Jan. 26.—"The public is more concerned and more vitally affected by the legislation proposed in the Snell Forestry bill than timberland owners, foresters or dealers in lumber, pulpwood, paper or other products of the forest, so ably represented here today," said Chas. Lathrop Pack, president of the American Forestry Association today at the national forestry program hearing before the committee on agriculture of the house. Every section of the country was represented at the hearing presided over by Representative B. A. Snell, of the thirty-first New York district.

"Newspaper and magazine publishers and paper manufacturers are supporting this legislation, which proposes a million dollars a year for cooperating with the states for fire protection, ten million a year for taking over additional forest lands and other details of a forestry program," continued Mr. Pack, "but the great American public which the American Forestry Association has the honor to represent, is even more concerned than all of them because the public pays the increased cost of newspapers, magazines and paper in general.

"The builders are vitally concerned about future lumber supplies and their effect on the very serious housing situation, but the public is far more concerned, particularly that part of it which would like to build a home, for the public pays the cost entailed by decreased supplies. I believe that home ownership is the biggest problem before this country today, and home ownership will be encouraged and prompted by the adoption of this proposed legislation.

"Like the entire country many of our greatest lumber producing states have gone dry. They have gone dry as to forests and that means long hauls of lumber and forest material costing millions in freight rates every year. The lumber dealers are urging this legislation because they are affected, but the public is hit a staggering blow which can be variously labeled high cost of living, or increased overhead, or anything else you may mind to call it, but it is the public that is hit.

"You hear about forest fires doing twenty million dollars of damage every year. The public pays this bill and has paid it for many years and now it demands that congress give it the privilege to pay for proper fire protection, and some degree of such protection may be had for the $1,000,000 a year which this bill asks.

"The land in this country must be put to work growing timber and that not when, for a crisis comes, and when that crisis comes it will be the public, as usual, that pays the bill."

In calling the meeting to order Representative Snell said:

"Today we are brought face to face with the rapid depletion of our forests, and it is time to establish some fixed policy that will provide a continuous supply of timber in the United States."

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Christian Fisher, one of Milton's most highly esteemed citizens, died at his home Monday night after a week's serious illness caused by an attack of pneumonia. Besides his wife he is survived by several nieces and nephews. Mr. Fisher will be greatly missed in Milton. His cheerful smile and friendly manner to all won for him a host of friends.

Margaret, wife of Daniel Herb, died today at her residence, 314 Clifton avenue. She was 70 years of age. Besides her husband, she is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth E. Brown of this city, and four sons, Peter, Charles and Isaac of this city, John of New York. The funeral will be held from the residence Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. Interment in Wiltwyck cemetery.

Hugh McCloskey, formerly of Kingston, news of whose death in Brooklyn after a short illness was received here Wednesday, was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McCloskey of Tompkins street. Besides his wife and two children, he is survived by one sister, Catherine McCloskey of this city. Funeral upon the arrival of the 1.15 West Shore train Friday, January 28. Interment in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery.

BACK TAXES COMING IN.

Government Now Receiving $35,000,000 Monthly.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Jan. 26.—The government is now collecting back taxes at the rate of $35,000,000 a month, as the result of errors made by taxpayers and disclosed in the audit for the returns for 1917, Revenue Collector Williams announced today. The government will collect in the aggregate at least a billion dollars in back taxes for the years 1917, 1918 and 1919. This revenue supplements the estimated treasury receipts previously announced.

TESTIFIES BRINES MADE THREAT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Philadelphia, Jan. 26.—William P. Brines, University of Pennsylvania student on trial here accused of murdering Elmer C. Drews, his chum, threatened last September to "get" Drews, according to W. J. S. Malloy, Curwinsville, Pa., who was called to the witness stand today by Assistant District Attorney James Gay Gordon.

Brines betrayed no emotion as Malloy testified that last September Brines who was in Curwinville delivering maps he and Drews had sold, told him Drews had "beat him out of between $75 and $100."

"Never mind," said Brines, according to Malloy, "I'll get him anyhow."

At another time, Malloy said, Brines, speaking of the debt, expressed the hope that on his return to Philadelphia he could induce Drews to meet him for a side bet of $500 in a ring.

Brines, said Malloy, offered to sell him an automatic pistol of the type found in Brines automobile.

Fears that the state's case may collapse were hinted at today following a lengthy attempt to establish a standard by which Brines's handwriting may be identified in evidence. Judge Ferguson allowed twelve college mates of the accused youth to identify examination papers written while Brines was in class, but he ruled out a letter purporting to have been written by Brines to Malloy.

PURBLIND PULLBACKS.

Some of those impassioned advocates of an independent India do not seem to have the wit to perceive that they are damaging their cause by their preposterous demands. For example, in his book on Indian home rule a medieval gentleman of the name of Gandhi arraigns civilization in general as well as denounces the British government of India. Mr. Gandhi even condemns railways, lawyers and doctors—railways, because the Almighty intended that man should make good use of his legs; lawyers, because they enslaved India; doctors, because they keep people alive who have sinned and thus enable them to go on in their evil way.

This impossible Gandhi actually goes to the limit of putting the ban on all machinery, because his forefathers "after due deliberation decided that we should do only what we could with our hands and feet." The British can hardly be blamed if, when called upon to consider the childish prattle of such moss-backed medievalists and purblind pullbacks, they merely grin derisively then go on cleaning up India and keeping it in order.

EQUAL RIGHTS.

As men are notoriously inconsistent, obviously the women of these times have the right to be more so. Nevertheless the inconsistency of some of the suffragists is a fair subject for comment. Miss Clara Sears Taylor of Washington wants the "ten million bachelors" of this country to be taxed and yield the government an income of some twenty million dollars a year. Male bachelors, of course. It did not occur to her that the proposed income could be doubled or more than doubled by including bachelor maids. More consistent is Miss Lucille Pugh, who, although a bachelor herself, objects to the discrimination against her sex which such a proposition involves. "There it is again—the old double standard," she impatiently protests. I though we were getting away from that. Why should we women be discriminated against in taxation any more than in voting? I would be willing to pay $1 or $2 or $1,000 or any amount a year to insure my continued freedom."

How many of Miss Pugh's sister suffragists would be willing to pay a thousand dollars "or any amount" to be consistent and have equal rights with men in taxation remains to be seen, for when the matter is put up to them in a practical way they are not always pleased. It is related that not long ago a man saw a recognized suffragist standing before him in a street car and instead of offering his seat he asked if she believed in equal rights. Being answered emphatically in the affirmative, he said: "Then stand up like a man and enjoy them." It is said to have been evident that the lady did not dote on equal rights to this extent and that she appeared to regard the bold man as a very disgusting male creature.

UNEMPLOYED BLUE BLOOD.

The present army of the unemployed is recruited from the ranks of the blue-blooded as well as from the proletariat. Monarchs out of business are very common, especially in Switzerland. Many grand duchesses, archduchesses and less high-placed ladies of quality are also said to be waiting for a job in the second-class pensions of both Swiss resorts and of Paris. Marriage is about the only possible job for these latter, and it is not surprising to learn that they are now less particular in the choice of life-partners than formerly. We read of a want advertisement setting forth that a "charming archduchess, accomplished musician, with knowledge of several languages, brought up in luxury and now tired of a miserable existence without money, would marry rich and refined American or English gentleman."

This charming archduchess who frankly adds that "perverts and individuals of either nationality need not apply, would take an "English gentleman," but would doubtless prefer a "rich and refined American," money being the avowed object. However, there is a tradition that all Americans are "moneybugs" and this by itself might help to reconcile her to such a come-down. In the past only American women could trade money for titles, but the great upheaval of the World War has opened the door of opportunity also to American men—with money. Even now our rich men must do without titles, but it looks as if they can bring into their families bluer European blood than has ever been annexed by any but a very few American heiresses. Apparently the rich American desirous of that brand of blood in his offspring has only to say the word—and sign the checks.

BIG CRANE-SHIP FOR U. S. NAVY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—The most powerful crane-ship in the world is to be the next addition to the United States Navy's growing list of super-craft, the Navy Department announced today.

Already the navy has either in commission or under construction the world's biggest battleship, biggest battle-cruiser, biggest rigid-type airship and biggest seaplane, and Secretary Daniels has announced that the navy itself will be the biggest in the world by 1923.

The monster crane, which is to be mounted on the old battleship Kearsarge now being refitted at the Philadelphia navy yard, will have a lifting capacity of 312 tons, or 624,000 pounds. In other words, it will be able to whisk about with the ease of a policeman twirling his club weighs equally to that of 4,160 moderately plump men, 624 medium-sized horses, or a slightly smaller number of "tin Lizzies."

The duty of the crane-ship will be to proceed under its own power from port to port and handle guns, turrets, armor-plates, boilers and other heavy material in the various shipbuilding yards. Its primary purpose is to lift turrets from their building cribs into battleships.

Sections of a modern triple 16-inch gun turret, which must be assembled and riveted complete before being put aboard a warship, weigh 200 tons or more. As this weight is beyond the crane capacity of some navy yards and most of the private yards now building battleships, it is essential for the Navy Department to have a large crane that can be moved from yard to yard to supply this deficiency.

Alteration of the Kearsarge for her new duty will include removal of all guns, ordnance equipment, turrets and most of her armor. Quarters also must be rearranged to accommodate the vessel's complement of officers and crew as a crane-ship.

The crane itself is being built under contract by the Wellman Seaver Morgan Company of Cleveland, Ohio, and will be shipped to Philadelphia in parts for assembling. It will be of the revolving, hinged, jib type, electrically operated and capable of rotating 360 degrees, and it will be capable of hoisting a load from 40 feet below the base of the crane to 103 feet above. By luffing the jib without rotating the crane, the load can be moved through a horizontal athwartship range extending from 72 to 101 feet from the centre of rotation.

It will also be provided with an auxiliary trolleying hoist of 40 tons capacity, having an outreach of 114 feet and a vertical lift of 175 feet. With these characteristics, the crane will be capable of reaching any part of any United States naval vessel now building or contemplated.

The main hoist consists of two hooks of 125 tons each, which are fitted to take an equalizer when lifting 250 tons.

The plant for supplying power for the crane will be located in the hold of the vessel. As refitted the Kearsarge will be able to transport at one time two tripie 16 inch gun turrets with their guns, foundations for this purpose being provided forward and aft under the main deck.

Naval engineeers assert the remodelled Kearsarge will be a perfectly seaworthy craft, notwithstanding the huge steel arm which will extend more than a hundred feet above her decks.

MODENA HOMESTEAD SOLD.

Linebiener Farm Among Properties Which Recently Changed Hands.

The large farm, together with a woodlot owned by Mrs. Carrie Linebiener opposite the Modena station, was sold Monday to Thomas Wilson of Washingtonville. Mr. Wilson purchased the farm for his future home and will take possession March 15, moving his stock from his Washingtonville farm which he has recently sold. The Linebiener farm has been in the family name for more than 100 years and is said to be one of the best farms in southern Ulster county.

The large farm owned by George Hall at Saugerties containing 192 acres was sold to Mr. Blood and sons of Nunda, N. Y. Mr. Blood expects to take possession of the farm on February 1, 1921.

The small farm owned by Jerome Hendricks of Krippleburh was sold to Frank Laffler of New York city. Mr. Laffler expects to use the farm as summer home.

The Mary DuBois farm at Lynnsville containing 35 acres of land was sold to Fred Henningson. These sales were all made through the E. A. Street Farm Agency, Newburgh, N. Y.

MRS. PEETE CALM ON SIXTH DAY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 26.—Continuing his efforts to try to show that Mrs. Louise Peete, on trial for her life on the charge of having killed Jacob Denton, invented a series of weird fabrications in an effort to free herself, District Attorney Woolwine was expected today to dwell freely on chapter three of what is known as the "Spanish woman" story.

At Tuesday's session Police Detective Louis Canto related chapter two of the story, declaring Mrs. Peete told him and other officers that Denton had shot and wounded the mysterious "Spanish woman" early one morning last June, during a violent quarrel. In chapter three the prosecution will seek to show that Mrs. Peete stated that Denton was slain by friends of the "Spanish woman" who came to the Denton mansion to avenge Denton's attack.

Today was the sixth day of the famous trial which has stirred southern Californians' interest to the highest pitch. At every session Mrs. Peete has been the same calm, indifferent, smiling woman, although a thread of nervous tension has been woven into every proceeding.

More than one woman has blanched to the fainting point when bloody grewsome relics of the "murder mansion" have been dragged forth for the gaze of the jurors. Sometimes many colorless female lips were bitten but Mrs. Peete invariably merely glanced at the exhibits as though she was a casual visitor to the bar of justice herself, instead of being the stellar figure in the dramatic legal battle.

HIGHLAND FIRE.

Many Buildings Threatened When Woodshed Burns.

Highland, Jan. 26—A spectacular fire which destroyed the large woodshed at the home of Dr. Joseph Freeton on Milton avenue at three o'clock Monday afternoon threatened many of the buildings nearby, as the water pressure on the hill was below the necessary power.

Despite the hard work of the firemen the large building burnt to the ground and the woods in the rear of the house caught fire which required considerable effort to extinguish.

A second fire alarm was sounded and the chemical engine was also put in use. Had the wind been in another direction all the nearby buildings would have been swept away due to the lack of water pressure it is stated.

A fire also started in the chimney in the tenement house of Edmund Rhodes but the blaze was put out by the firemen without any damage being done.

ENCOURAGE MUSIC

As Means of Keeping People Away From Bull Fights.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Mexico City, Jan. 26.—Music versus bull fighting.

This outlines the latest struggle in Mexico, but it is a peaceful one. Dr. Jose Vasconcelos, rector of the National University, is issuing a series of public letters entreating the people to forsake the bull ring on Sunday to attend public concerts. He calls bull fighting degrading.

The government is taking a middle course. While President Obregon has given tacit approval of Sunday bull fighting by attending some of the spectacles, the government has removed the duty on pianos so as to encourage music.

Farm Labor Rates Highest.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Wage rates for farm labor reached their highest point in the history of this country in 1920, the department of agriculture announced today. As ascertained by the bureau of crop estimates, the average wage rate for labor hired by the month was $46.89 with board, and $64.95 without board; for day labor at harvest, $3.60 with board and $4.30 without board.

BOYS' WELFARE EVENTS TONIGHT

Everything is set for the two important events in connection with Boys' Welfare which occur this evening under the auspices of the Rotary Club and Chamber of Commerce.

Rotarian J. J. Henry of Poughkeepsie will be the speaker at the joint dinner of the Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club in the Fair Street Reformed Church at 6:15. Reservations for the dinner are coming in in large numbers but the dinner committee expect to be able to care for all who come.

Both men and women are invited to the dinner and invitation is open to the general public as well as to Rotarians and members of the Chamber of Commerce. Plates are $1.00 each.

The Rev. Frank Seeley, president of the Rotary Club, and Charles Ramsey, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, will preside jointly at the dinner.

General Lincoln C. Andrews will be a guest of honor at the dinner and will be the chief speaker at the Kingston City Boys' Welfare Conference which will be held in the court house at 8 o'clock.

The joint Boys Welfare Committee of the Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club is confident that this evening will mark a long step forward in working out of effective organization for "Extensive Cooperation and Coordination" and for the welfare of the boys of Kingston.

TIMBER CONTROL BILL OPPOSED

Snell Measure Would Create Monopoly on Pacific Coast Which Could Levy on Whole Country, Says Pinchot.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Four-fifths of the lumber in America is in private hands, half of that is owned by 250 holders, the great bulk of their holdings is on the Pacific Coast and the Snell Forestry Bill will promote a monopoly in their hands, declared Gifford Pinchot, commissioner of forestry of Pennsylvania, former national forester, in opposing the bill today before the house agricultural committee.

The Snell bill has received the support of timber men, dealers and consumers.

"The clear and obvious fact is that the Snell bill is not supported by the timber owning interests because they want to be controlled but because they know that national control is the only form of control they have to fear and that state control is no control at all," Pinchot said.

"They know that the passage of the Snell bill would be the most effective step possible to put into the hands of a little group of Pacific coast lumbermen a monopolistic power over the farmers, the wage earners, the manufacturers, the business men and the rent payers of the whole United States, a power far more oppressive than that exercised by the steel trust, the anthracite trust or the oil trust, a power which there is no reason for giving and which the people of the United States will assuredly see that they do not get."

The Snell bill, said Pinchot, would leave to the legislatures of Washington and Oregon to decide whether their expensive forest lands shall be devastated.

In ten years, he predicted the country must go to the Pacific coast for all its supplies of lumber.

COUNTY GIVING TO CHILDREN'S FUND

Reports from towns in Ulster county of contributions for the funds for the European Relief for starving children have been received and in each case show the workers taking an active interest in their work. The canvass at Ellenville is now under way and the workers expect to complete their work within a few days.

From Gardiner the report shows $71 received and turned over to treasurer C. R. O'Connor.

Highland reports that the work has been started in that town and a report is expected shortly.

In the Fourth ward of the city additional workers have been appointed and Stella Wojcishowski and Stella Piotkowski have completed the canvass of the ward.

At Albany Friday evening Chairman Herbert Hoover addressed the meeting and at the close $24,712 was subscribed by those present.

McDEVITT BEATEN.

New Editor of "Snappy" Paper, Offends Business Men.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Jan. 26.—John J. (Dutch) McDevitt of "millionaire for a day" fame, is laid up at his home here today as the result of a beating administered to him late last night by eight business men.

McDevitt is the editor of "Plain Talk," a publication which appears twice a month and which is considered "snappy."

McDevitt is alleged to have printed an article in this week's issue about a business man going to New York with his stenographer. Eight men in an automobile drove up to McDevitt's office last night and attacked him. One of the men was recognized as a prominent banker, it was declared.

HURLEY.

Hurley, Jan. 26.—There will be held a farm and home institute in our village town hall on Monday, January 31. There will be good speaking and an interesting program is assured. In view of the fact that this will be an all day meeting, the local members of the Home Bureau have planned to give a luncheon at noon in our village church. The excellence of the menu will, no doubt, be not the least attraction of the day. It is expected that a large number will take advantage of the opportunity. The menu will consist of sliced boiled ham, baked beans, cabbage salad, sandwiches, pickles, apple and pumpkin pie and coffee. This will be ready at noon time between the sessions.

Keep in mind the pork roast supper in Hurley Church on Wednesday evening, January 26. The men who have the undertaking in charge are exerting their utmost and a good time is assured. The bill of fare has already been published. There will be an abundance of good appetizing things to eat with ice cream and cake as a final treat. The supper will be ready at half past five o'clock.

CHICHESTER.

Chichester, Jan. 26.—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Crosby spent Sunday in Hensonville.

"A FOOL AND HIS MONEY"

By GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON

The story deals with the adventures of an American author who buys a castle and commences to write a novel there. He becomes involved in experiences with a "ghost" and a villainous nobleman, and before he can fairly get his breath he goes through a series of adventures more exciting, amusing and romantic than anything he had even dreamed of for the hero of his coming novel

ACTION as quick as thought!

"ELMO was fighting at bay. On all sides of him the burly thugs were closing in, their wicked eyes gleaming and their greedy faces gloating over the belief that they had him cornered at last. Swirling his giant arm in a murderous arc, Elmo crashed the jaw of the first, knocking him cold. The second rushed in only to meet a steely fist and a sickening shove to the floor. The biggest of the gang jumped at Elmo, his corded fingers clutching at Elmo's throat. With a mighty heave, Elmo freed himself from the clutching hands, lifted his heavy assailant over his head, and flung the struggling form on top of the two he had downed—" There's action! ONE CENT A WORD ADVS. BRING RESULTS

THIS IS THE ICEMAN'S WEATHER

Zero weather continues to prevail in this vicinity, and throughout the city today theremometers clung closely to the zero mark. The cold weather was accompanied by a sharp biting wind. It is a good ice-making weather, and if the cold spell continues it is expected that the harvesting of ice on the river will be started within a few days.

The ice in the river is bothering the ferry Transport and she is being helped out by the tug Rob which is making some of the scheduled trips of the ferry carrying passengers back and forth across the river. The ferry went over on the first trip this morning and had to break a new track as the old track of the day before had frozen over during the night.

The ice, both in the river and the creek, is daily growing thicker, and there is good skating on the flats at Kingston Point and on the upper Rondout creek. The lower creek from the Cornell Steamboat Company dock to the mouth is filled with floating ice which is kept broken up by the Rob and the Transport.

The Skillpot is still making regular trips, and owing to the fact that the Rob and Transport are keeping the ice fairly well broken up in the lower creek, the Skillypot's track is kept open.

There is little doubt but ice will be harvested this winter from the river, for it will be remembered that last winter the month of February was extremely cold which was accompanied by heavy snow falls. The first week in February last year a big blizzard broke over Kingston and vicinity, and all traffic, with the exception of the trolley cars, was tied up. Even taxicabs were unable to run for over a week owing to the deep snow on the side streets, and the country roads leading into the city were closed to traffic for some time.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, Jan. 26.—Esopus Council, No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, will meet this evening, 7:30 o'clock, in Spinneweber's Hall, Broadway.

The Dorcas Society will be entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs Harry Elmendorf on South Broadway, Friday evening. Mrs. Polhemus and Mrs. Elmendorf will be the hostesses of the evening.

Merritt Every has purchased a new seven passenger Hudson sedan, to be used in his omnibus business.

Mrs. Charles Neice is ill of grip at her home, corner of Main and Bayard streets.

The Missionary Society of the Reformed Church will give a missionary pageant, "The Secret of Happiness," in the Sunday school room this evening. No admission and no offering. This will be entirely free Everyone invited to spend a social hour and be well entertained and instructed.

The time is drawing near for the coming fair and bazaar to be held in Pythian Hall Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings, February 1, 2, 3, and 4, under the auspices of the Port Ewen fire department. Good music for dancing will be furnished every evening. Choice refreshments and soft drinks will be served. Booths will be established and the several committees will be in charge, where your desire for for fancy articles can be satisfied. All children under the age of 12 years will not be admitted unless accompanied by parents or guardian.

Mrs. Warren K. Van Vliet is spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Lester Furgerson, on Green street.

Miss Alice Losee is boarding at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Atkins on Hasbrouck street.

Miss A. Dunn and Miss E. Brophy of Kingston were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Dorr Sunday.

Remember the Japanese social tonight at 8 o'clock at the Reformed Chuch to be given by the Women's Missionary Society. A pageant "The Secret of Happiness" will be one of the features of the evening. A general invitation is given to any and all who would wish to attend.

High Dollar to Get Goods.

The members of Kingston Council, No. 356, Order United Commercial Traveler, and their many friends are awaiting with gleeful anticipation the old time country auction to be held at Pythian Hall, Friday evening of this week. There will be dancing, a fortune teller and an entertainment, all free, besides a veteran auctioneer has been engaged to strike off to the highest bidder all manner of articles, with a guarantee that there will be no favoritism, and that the high dollar will get the goods, no matter it be a bag of coal, a barrel of flour or a bale of hay.

Colonial League Games Friday.

There will be no game this evening in the Colonial League, but two games will be staged Friday evening in St. Peter's Hall. In the first game the Tigers will play St. Mary's, and the other game the Centrals will play the K. of C. This will be the last game of the season of the Tigers, who have clinched the championship of the league by winning all of their games, and they expect to repeat Friday night closing the season with an unblemished record of wins.

Holy Cross Church Cake Sale.

The ladies of the Holy Cross Church will hold a cake sale Saturday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock at the store of Mrs. S. L. Terry on Broadway near the state armory. The ladies will have on sale an exceptionally fine line of home made cakes.

Bring all the family with you to enjoy the dance and entertainment on Friday night, Jan. 28, at Pythian Hall, where the U. C. T. will hold their big auction and grocery sale. Admission free.—Advertisement.

AIRPLANES BEAT MAD MULLAH

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Jan. 26.—How the British conquered Somaliland and dispersed the forces of the "Mad Mullah" by "boombing, shooting up, setting on fire his stronghold and scattering his forces and stock" by one of the first successful primary military operations by aircraft, is told in an official report received here today in military circles.

Somaliland, situated on the eastern coast of Africa; opposite the gulf of Aden, came under British protection in 1885, and has ever since been a constant scource of trouble to the British because of the rebelliousness of the native ruler of the country, whose constant "holy wars" and insurrections caused him to be designated as the "Mad Mullah." The British attempts to quell these uprisings have extended over a period of thirty-four years and in 1919 the British position became so serious that, according to the report, another military expedition on a larger scale than anything heretofore attempted, appeared inevitable. The expense of such an undertaking was estimated at $25,000,000 and as raising the troops for such a purpose presented difficulties the movement was indefinitely postponed.

It was then decided that an opportunity might be given the Royal Air Force to attempt a purely air expedition and to thereby prove the "value of aircraft as an Empire Police Force." The cost of this venture was estimated comparatively low as to an ordinary punitive expedition and the troops needed to the number of 2,500 to 5,000 were immediately available.

According to the report the total air force employed consisted of 32 officers and 164 other ranks, with a small medical detachment and 11 war machines.

Upon reaching Somaliland the advance party removed all flying badges and gave out that they were searching for oil under an engineer. A base was established upon the coast where supplies of petrol and oil were landed. The subsequent operations are described as consisting of three phases, namely: "Finding the Mullah's stronghold, bombing, shooting up, setting on fire his stronghold and scattering his forces and stock; the carrying out of these operations until it was reported the Mullah had broken through the line held by the Camel Corps and was making south, and, finally, the bombing of the Mullah's men and their stock on the trek south."

Within "one week's bombing and two weeks' pursuit," the operation was completely at an end. The enemy lost all his fighting men, forts, stock and leaders and all the Mullah's party had been either killed or captured with the exception of the Mullah himself.

The complete overthrow of the power of the Mad Mullah was accomplished in the space of twenty-three days with only two casualties in the native Camel Corps.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Dainty Frock For Mother's Girl.

Pattern 3298 is illustrated in this design. It is cut in 4 sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. A 10 year size will require 4¾ yards of 27 inch material. This style may be developed without the overblouse.

It is attractive in voile, cotton crepe, batiste, organdie, gingham, chambray, gabardine, poplin, silk and challie. Embroidery, ribbon or braid would be good for trimming. The sleeve may be in wrist or elbow length.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12 cents in coin or 1c and 2c stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state size wanted.

Catalogue Notice.

Send 12c in coin or stamps for our up-to-date fall and winter 1920 and 1921 catalogue, containing 650 designs of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 20 of the various simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

Mardi Gras Dance.

A Mardi Gras dance has been announced for Tuesday, February 8th, the day before Ash Wednesday, in Holy Cross Parish Hall. The dance will be under the auspices of the men of Holy Cross, and there will be some novel features introduced for the last festive occasion before Lent begins. Baile's entire orchestra has been arranged to make the music.

ARE YOU CONGENIAL?

Thin-Blooded, Sick-Looking Men and Women Lack Enthusiasm

THEY NEED PEPTO-MANGAN

Red-Blooded, Healthy-Looking Folks Get Along Well Because They Feel Good.

There is a thrill in glowing good health. You see it in the enthusiasm and good cheer of congenial people. Fatigue, bad color, dull eyes and listless feelings do not attract other people. You are not congenial when you are run down.

Nearly everybody gets out of sorts occasionally. They are positively unhappy for weeks and constantly tired and gloomy. Perhaps you are that way and can see no reason why. But there is a reason. More than likely it is because of bad blood. Temporarily your blood needs help. Pepto-Mangan is a well-known and very successful remedy for poor blood. It supplies what your blood needs. You pick up and become your old self again: your blood works as it should, keeping you fresh and alert, congenial and happy and strong.

Pepto-Mangan is sold in both liquid and tablet form. Both contain the same medicinal ingredients. One is as effective as the other.

Buy Pepto-Mangan at your druggist's. Be sure the name "Gude's" is on the package. Without the name "Gude's" it is not Pepto-Mangan.—Advertisement.

FEWER CITIZENS GOT INTO JAIL

Lyon's Figures Show Positive Decrease In Crime Last Year—Few Women Got Into Trouble With Law.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Jan. 26. (Special to The Freeman)—Crime wave, or no crime wave, New York state was much better behaved last year than during 1919. The statistics on crime, about to be issued by Secretary of State John J. Lyons testify to this fact in an indisputable manner. Convictions in courts of special sessions numbered 33,835 last year, as compared to 47,312 during the preceding year, a decrease of 13,477. Of those convicted last ear, 31,062 were males and 2,773 were females.

A comparative study of Mr. Lyon's reports reveals some interesting thing. Take the printers, for instance. Sevent-six of the craft pled the law last yar to the extent that they were convicted: as against 59 back in 1919.

What about the editors?

One convicted in 1920, two in 1919. Some improvement.

And the reporters, drawing the invisible line that distinguishes the reporter from the journalist, the journalist from the newspaperman. In 1919, one each faced the court, and wae convicted. Last year, the records show a single newspaperman to have erred.

Pressmen are neither better nor worse, 10 having fallen to a degree that landed them in the clutches of the law each year. Stereotypers ran 100 per cent pure.

Wine agents added no bubbles to the crime wave last year, but 26 bartenders and 19 saloonkeepers came to grief. Bootblacks were not as black as they have been painted, 9 being convicted out of the thousands that ply the brush.

A dozen actors found their audiences in the courtroom, to 11 the year before. But one actress went wrong. Eighteen stenographers as compared to 12 in 1919, made mistakes other than in transcribing.

Auto repairmen are getting worse by the minute, although 25 were convicted last year, as compared to 13 during the preceding twelve months. Sixty-five barbers had more than a close shave with the law and were found guilty. Authors, butchers bookkeepers, chauffeurs, cigarmakers, dentists and janitors failed to sustain their previous good record, and contributed in growing numbers to the convictions, while lawyers, blacksmiths, farmers, waiters and automobile dealers revealed improvement to an extent at least that kept them out of court. The report shows 22 persons as having been pardoned last year, as against 25 the year before. 187 commutations as against 116 in 1919, while 241 were restored to citizenship last year as compared to 164 during the previous twelve month period.

KERHONKSON.

Kerhonkson, Jan. 25.—A number from this place attended the quilting at Mrs. Adam Turner's and also a number from Granite. All reported a fine time. Mr. Turner's birthday being the day before, he being 84 years of age.

Neice Decker bought the Plaicker place and took possession last Tuesday.

Mrs. George Decker of Kerhonkson Heights is visiting Mrs. Joseph Schoonmaker.

There will be a masquerade ball and oyster supper in the K. of P. Hall at Kerhonkson on Thursday next, Jan. 27.

Mrs. Harrison Burger who has been seriously ill, is around again.

The Ladies' Aid of the Reformed Church will meet with Mrs. Ulysses Hedrick Wednesday, Jan. 26.

Grant Schoonmaker expects to spend his vacation at Glendale, Mass.

Mrs. J. C. Gillespie who has been sick, is improving slowly.

Mrs. James Osterhoudt entertained company from Kingston over Sunday.

William Geary who has been confined to his home for some time, is able to walk out a little.

After buying your supplies at the various and grocery sale of the U. C. T., at Pythian Hall, Friday night, Jan. 21, enjoy a dance with the local Knights of the Grip. No admission charged.—Advertisement.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the teachers and officers of the Rondout Presbyterian Bible school was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Kingman. Many of the older scholars of the school were present.

That the year 1920 was a very successful year was shown in the detailed report of the superintendent. His yearly report also covered many suggestions for the new year. The treasurer's report was read and showed that the school is in a very fine financial condition. Much good has been accomplished by the school during the year such as the support of a little French war orphan in devastated France, the contributing towards the support of a missionary in the mountains of Kentucky, the liberal contributions toward the relief of the Armenians, and the liberal contributions to the various Sunday school boards, and many other purposes. A splendid balance is also on hand.

Reports were also received from the secretary and superintendent of the cradle roll. Miss Edith Holmes gave a detailed report of the flower fund for the year.

Following the yearly reports the election of officers took place. Harry G. Smith took charge of the election. The present superintendent, Fred Van Deusen, tendered his resignation to take effect immediately, as he stated he felt that he has held the position for a number of years it was only fair to the school that a new superintendent be elected in his stead. His resignation was laid on the table and a committee of five was appointed to consider it and report back at the next meeting of the teachers and officers, to be held next month.

James G. Van Keuren, I. W. Scott and Harry G. Smith were elected assistant superintendents for the year; Hugh McCullough was re-elected treasurer and Sanford G. Van Deusen was re-elected secretary. Miss Katherine Van Keuren was elected chief librarian, she to appoint her own assistants; Miss S. Huber, superintendent of the home department; Miss Elizabeth Bishop, superintendent of the cradle roll, and Dr C. H. Bishop, musical director.

After the election of officers much business was transacted and many progressive plans made for the year. At the close of the meeting Miss Greta Linkletter and Miss Ruth Scott rendered delightful piano solos. Miss Jacquelyn Monroe gave a splendid recitation and Miss Helen Webster sang two delightful solos. At the close of the program refreshments were served.

BEARSVILLE.

Bearsville, Jan. 26.—Bearsville Lodge, I. O. O. F., conferred the second degree on a class of eight Friday evening. The new degree team proved royal entertainers as was attested by the large lodge attendance. The third degree will be conferred on this class next Friday night and a new class will be initiated the first Friday in February.

ST. REMY.

St. Remy, Jan. 25.—Don't forget the New England supper at the St. Remy Church on Wednesday. All are welcome who come.

Mrs. Howard Durham and son, Walter, of Newburgh, called on Mrs. Ophelia Lawrence last Monday.

Mrs. Schuyler Deyo who has been ill the past week is convalescent.

Mrs. Almira York spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Kathryn Sutton.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Ellsworth were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Rose at Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Van Bork were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Freer last Friday.

George Bell is spending some time with his mother, Mrs. Frederica Miller in East St. Remy.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Acker called at H. F. Deyo's on Sunday.

Several men in this village have procured work on the ice at Philmont's ice house.

On account of the icy road this side of the Eddyville bridge Friday night the stage and several other cars skidded and came near going off into the creek. Several men from this place shoveled gravel on the road so the cars could get past. Some damage was done to the cars, but no one was hurt only greatly excited.

A number of the day school scholars took regents examinations at Eddyville last week. Miss Dora Shultis passed and will attend the high school at Kingston. S.

Prospects You Have Met.

"Is the office boy on duty to keep people away from me?"

"Yes, sir."

"Is there a bench in the hall on which busy business men may sit while waiting to see me?"

"Yes, sir."

"Is there a hidden lock on the gate that leads into the outer office?"

"Yes, sir."

"Has the telephone girl been instructed to ask all who call for me their name and business?"

"Oh, yes, our telephone girl knows all about that."

"And to consult me before permitting any one to talk to me?"

"Yes, sir."

"Is everything arranged here to make it as difficult as possible for people to transact business with this firm?"

"It is."

"Good. Then send the sales manager to me. I want to find out why our men are not getting better interviews."—The Nation's Business.

LABOR URGES TRADE WITH REDS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Complete restoration of trade relations between the United States and Russia as a means of restoring industry and relieving unemployment in this country, was urged before the senate foreign relations committee today by Timothy Healy of New York city and other labor leaders.

"The American workman is out of a job today and the Russian needs clothing, shoes and other necessities," said William Mahar, spokesman for the Masters, Mates and Pilots.

"Trade with Russia would give the American workman employment and supply the Russian with the American made articles he so urgently requires."

JAP OFFICIALS DENY

That Britain Is Building Warships For Their Country.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Jan. 26.—Japanese officials today denied the report printed by the Daily Herald yesterday that contracts have been let for the construction of three Japanese warships by a British firm. At the Japanese embassy it was said that Japan's naval policy had been fully explained by the recent speech of the Japanese foreign minister at Tokio, in which announcement was made that all plans for naval expansion had been held up. Japanese embassy officials added that, even if Japan had decided to build warships, the work would be done at home, because of Japanese unemployment.

DANIELS ACTS

To Find Out Best Weapons For American Navy.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Jan. 26.—In the face of congressional movement toward disarmament, Secretary of the Navy Daniels today addressed a letter to the naval general board directing that an immediate study be made of the most effective weapons of modern naval warfare. A report on the study to be made early in February.

Secretary Daniels stated that if the "United States is to play a lone hand," it must be prepared with the most effective means of warfare.

NO REPORT YET

On Result of Conferences With Japanese Ambassador.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Jan. 26.—No report has been made on the negotiations in the Japanese conferences conducted by Ambassador to Japan Morris and Japanese Ambassador Shidehara, acting Secretary of State Davis said today.

Secretary Colby is expected to return here late today and a report may be ready for him at that time.

Secretary Davis said he had no knowledge of what recommendations might be made on the result of the conferences.

Bandits Rob County Treasurer.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Marion, O., Jan. 26.—Two bandits entered the office of the county treasurer early today and after beating Harry E. Forry, the treasurer, into insensibility, escaped with $14,000 in currency. Several thousand dollars in silver was left in the vault. The robbery was discovered half an hour after it had occurred by a tax payer who found Forry still dazed.

Try To Kill Armenian Official.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, Jan. 26.—An unsuccessful attempt was made here today to assassinate the president of the Armenian mission. Several shots were fired but all missed their mark. The Armenian delegation came to Paris to put the case of their country before the allies.

NEW INDICTMENT FOR HETTERICK

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Jan. 26.—Six Brooklyn cut stone contractors pleaded not guilty in the criminal branch of the supreme court today to indictments returned by the extraordinary grand jury yesterday charging them with violation of the Donnolly anti-trust laws.

Similar pleas were entered on behalf of John T. Hetterick and three cut stone firms named in the indictments. This is the fifth indictment to be returned against Hetterick since the housing investigation began.

Justice McAvoy held each of the "czar" on trial for alleged extortion bail. The appearance of the Brooklyn contractors in court was the first indication that the housing investigation had been extended to Brooklyn.

The two safes seized from the offices of Robert P. Brindell, labor "czar" on trial for alleged extortion, were opened in court by James Bicncolo, a safe expert, after half an hour's effort. They contained minute books, ledgers, a mass of correspondence, letter files and a number of labor agreements.

The documents were taken in charge by the district attorney's office.

When the trial of Brindell was resumed, Joseph Goldblatt, a house-wrecker, and Charles Hardy, Jr., in Goldblatt's employ, were placed on the stand.

Light and Heat For New Homes.

"Public Utilities and the Housing Problem" will be discussed by P. H. Gadsden at a meeting of the civic development department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States of America at Washington, January 28th. He is representing the American Electrical Railway Association of which he is president, the National Electric Light Association and the American Gas Association. Figures which he will present show that an investment of $160,000,000 will be required on the part of electric light and power companies to provide proper service for the 1,900,000 homes which must be built to solve the housing problem of the country.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Jan. 26.—The various stocks traded in during the first 15 minutes of the stock market today moved wholly independent of each other. The most prominent feature was General Asphalt, in which there was aggressive buying, seeming to indicate that some action had been taken at the directors' meeting at which the dividend was declared that has not been made public. The stock had a rapid advance to 70, a gain of 4¼ points. Mexican Petroleum reflected a scarcity of stock for delivery shown in the loan crowd last night and rose 2½ to 157. Royal Dutch declined 1⅜ to 62½. American Tobacco advanced 1 point to 120¼ and the B stock gained 2 points. There was active trading in Steel Common from 82 to 82½. Crucible, Republic Steel and Pressed Steel Car made fractional gains. Railroad stocks were fairly active, Southern Pacific advancing ⅝ to 98⅜. Pennsylvania, influenced by the proposed new bond issue, declined to 41¼. Studebaker rose ⅝ to 57½. The market then developed pronounced strength.

The market reacted somewhat from the early high levels during the forenoon. Steel Common, after selling at 82⅝, dropped to 82. Mexican Petroleum advanced to 157¼ then yielded two points. General Asphalt Common advanced over five points to 70⅝, while the preferred rose 4½ to 111. Central Leather was in better demand, advancing over 1 point to 40⅝ and American Hide and Leather Preferred rose 2 points to 45. There was more activity in the railroad shares, Reading advancing 1 point to 84⅞.

Quiet trading in the early afternoon was followed by another selling movement, most pronounced in stocks which there had been short covering. Crucible Steel which had sold at 97½, had a quick decline to 92¼ and Mexican Petroleum yielded to 154¼, a loss of 3 points from the high. Baldwin Locomotive, after it had touched 91⅝, dropped to 89½.

The market closed heavy; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds steady.

Grants Swann $20,000.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Jan. 26.—The Board of Estimate today unanimously granted the request of District Attorney Swann for $20,000 to meet the expenses of the inquiry now in progress under the direction of Former Governor Whitman. The money was made immediately available. Mr. Whitman's activities today were concerned with the disposition of stolen automobiles.

Assembly Concurs.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 26.—The assembly today, after two hours debate and without a record vote, adopted the emasculated resolution continuing the Lockwood committee. The resolution extends its probe to include commercial housing, gives it power to grant immunity to witnesses and permits inquiry into mortgage loans.

Bandits Get $900,000 In Checks.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 26.—Two motor bandits today held up and robbed three messengers of the Drovers' National Bank on a downtown street, escaping with a satchel containing $900,000 in checks. The messengers carried no cash.

After they got through with the "Better Babies" campaign, we favor putting on a "Better Grown People" drive.—Wichita Beacon.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Announce Engagement.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Krom of Rifton announce the engagement of their daughter, Cora Ella Bietz, to William Dymond of Lake Mohonk.

Jankowski-Dakrzewska.

George Jankowski and Miss Theresa Dakrzewska were married this morning at the Church of the Immaculate Conception by the Rev. Francis Lesnewski. They were attended by Edward Jankowski, a brother of the groom, and Miss Rose Dakrzewka. A reception followed at the bride's home, 11 Rock street. Following a honeymoon trip the couple will reside at 154 Third avenue.

Lowell Club.

The Lowell Club met this week with Mrs. Basten at her home on Fair street. "George Bernard Shaw," occupied the attention of the club members at this meeting, Mrs. Van Buren having an excellent paper on "George Bernard Shaw and His Plays." This was followed by a discussion on "Is Shaw a Cynic, a Moralist or a Humorist?" which was very interesting. Mrs. Van Leuven then gave a resume of one of Shaw's plays and the program closed with a roll call, "Terse Sayings of George Bernard Shaw." Next week the club will meet with Mrs. Brigham.

Her Ninth Birthday.

On Monday afternoon an enjoyable surprise party was given to Lillian Sullivan at her home, 25 South Prospect street, by some of her school friends in honor of her ninth birthday. Those who were present were Elizabeth Boice, Mary and Elizabeth Blass, Elsie and Betty Brown, Julia Rosa, Helen Rickter, Lillian Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wirth, Olle Wirth, Mrs. Terpenning, Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan. After being served at five o'clock with a buffet luncheon the guests departed wishing the hostess many more happy birthdays.

Dutcher-Reedy.

A quiet but impressive wedding was solemnized at St. Joseph's Church on Tuesday afternoon, January 25, at 3 o'clock, the contracting parties being Miss Gertrude E. Reedy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Reedy of 147 O'Neil street, this city, and Walter E. Dutcher, formerly of Ellenville but now a promising business man of New York city. Miss Ethel M. Carr of New York city was bridesmaid and John Reedy, Jr., was best man. After a wedding supper at the home of the bride, the happy couple left on a south bound train for Washington, D. C., and other points of interest. They will make their residence in New York city.

GERMANY'S GOLD

Amounts to Half Billion But Little Is Available.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, Jan. 26.—Germany possesses $500,000,000 in gold at this time, but only about 4 per cent of it is available for indemnity payments to the allies, it became known here today when the inter-allied conference was resumed with reparations as the chief topic of discussion.

At the morning session, M. Doumer, the French foreign minister, read a long report on France's needs and her expectations. The report will be transcribed and distributed among the premiers for further discussions tomorrow.

For the first time in the history of New Jersey and possibly in the history of the country, a woman lawyer is defending a man charged with murder. Mrs. Augusta Maley, of Hackensack, N. J., is appearing as attorney for William Gleason, accused of killing Policeman John Ritter. Mrs. Maley says the only reason she has consented to take Gleason's case is that she is convinced of his innocence.

Restored Lost Pocketbook.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Circle No. 3 of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer will hold a cake sale in the store of S. E. Eighmey Saturday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock.

A short time ago there appeared a notice in The Freeman stating that Miss Amelia Riccobono would hold an entertainment to be given by her music class. There was a mistake made, and it should have been by her dancing class.

There will be a meeting of the ladies of Circle No. 1 of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Reformed Church of the Comforter at the parsonage on Thursday afternoon at 2:30. All the ladies of the circle are requested to be present as the work for the year will be discussed and planned.

New Paper Quiz Proposed.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Investigation of the price of print paper by the federal trade commission is provided in a resolution introduced in the senate today by Senator Harris, Democrat, of Georgia. The investigation would cover costs during 1920.

Sergeant Henry Hallowell, of McPherson, Kan., who, at eighty-two, is the oldest marine in active service. As erect and soldierly in appearance as the day he stood as orderly to President Buchanan at the White House, Sergeant Halliowell clearly typifies the healthy outdoor lives of the "Soldiers of the Sea." His first enlistment is dated May 23, 1860, and since that time he has taken part in every "scrap" in which the "Devil Dogs" engaged.

STEAMER IN TROUBLE.

But Cannonier Is Expected to Make Port Herself.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Jan. 26.—The steamer Cannonier of the Lloyd Royal Belge Line is in distress 150 miles off Montauk, L. I., according to wireless messages picked up here this afternoon. Officials of the line stated they had received direct advices from the vessel which led them to believe it would be able to make port safely.

The calls of distress sent out by the Cannonier are believed by officials to have been the ones picked up by the amateur operator at Stamford, Conn., who thought the steamer Rotterdam was sending them out.

COLONIALS 24, SAUGERTIES 7

The Saugerties A. C. team fell before the fast play of the Colonial Big Five Monday evening at the Orpheum court, Saugerties, by a score of 24 to 7. The Kingston team ran rings around their opponents at all stages of the game, particularly in the last half. From the first few minutes of play when Murphy put the Colonials in the lead with a field basket, the game was Kingston's. The first half was hotly contested, the Colonials having a one point advantage at the end of the half, the score being 6 to 5. From the beginning of the second half the Colonials cut their stride and piled up a big lead. Dolson, Spalt, Murphy, Sills, and McGrane played fast games, passing and shooting with deadly accuracy. Murphy led the point getting with four neat field baskets.

ALL KINGSTON WOMEN

Wanted as Kingston City Hospital Auxiliary Members.

The monthly meeting of the auxiliary of the Kingston City Hospital was held on Tuesday. It is earnestly desired that more of the members interest themselves in the weekly sewing division which meets every Thursday afternoon at the city hall.

Garments for use in the wards are made here, as well as all bed and table linen for the institution.

Any member of the auxiliary who is interested in this good and useful work may present herself any Thursday afternoon at 2:30 at the city hall on the ground floor, and be directed to the sewing room.

Every woman in Kingston is wanted as a member of the auxiliary. One dollar a year for dues is very little indeed out of the individual pocketbook, but the value of a large membership is tremendous in carrying on the work of so splendid an institution as the city hospital.

Anyone wishing to join has only to send her name and one dollar to Mrs. C. E. Hasbrouck, Stuyvesant street, and she immediately becomes a part of this active organization which has helped make the hospital what it is today. Let this be an invitation to every woman in the city.

FLEISCHMANNS VISITORS.

Win Over Andes Quintet by Score of 32 to 21.

The Fleischmanns Crescents kept up their winning streak last Friday evening when they won from the fast and well known Andes quintet. The game was fast and clean throughout with the Crescents forcing the play. In the first half Fleischmanns ran the score up at will and at half time were leading 20 to 6.

Fleischmanns was never threatened in the second period, although Andes was playing an improved game.

Clark, Andes's pivot man, played a great game, but was played very close by Faulkner, who, as usual, played a good clean fast game Jocelyn's all around work and Shaver's defensive work were the features of the game.

OTHER TEACHERS

Recalled in Addenda to DeWitt's Address.

Postmaster William C. DeWitt, president of the Kingston High School Parent-Teachers' Association, by request from a number of esteemed citizens of Kingston who perused the address delivered at the High School, January 12, and printed in full in The Freeman, has made the following additions, in justice to the memory of Prof. William McGeorge of old Kingston Academy and Principal Augustus Schepmoes of old School No. 15 and others, to the original copy on file in the library of the High School:

On sheet four after the words "about 1852 owing to its growth" is added:

"Prof. William McGeorge became principal of Kingston Academy and successfully presided for years."

On sheet five after words "and Principal John D. Murphy in our grammar schools," is added:

"Augustus Schepmoes, principal of old No. 15, was a popular and worthy preceptor and Principals Jared Barhite and Herbert Pinkney, and Miss Burger were earnest, well and fondly remembered teachers, also."

Y. M. C. A. ALLEYS' BUSY FRIDAY

In the seven o'clock matches of the Mercantile Bowling League at the Y. M. C. A. this Friday evening the Gas and Electric team meets the Armour Meat Company and the K-M silk mills will meet the Ulster County National Bank team. Both of these games will be full of interest inasmuch as they are of about the same ability. The Armour team has been going well recently, while the gas men have been training each evening and will do their best to break the winning streak of their opponents. The silk mills will have a hard nut to crack in the bankers, who when they are all in form can make the best of them hustle. The mainstay, Boessneck of the silk mills and Cleveland of the same team stand well up in the averages. At nine o'clock the Everett and Treadwell team meets the league leaders, Fuller Shirt Company and the Matthews team bowls against the Kingston Coal Company.

For some time the shirt men have been steadily climbing and with the aid of three games that they recently won from their nearest competitors, the West Shore, will undoubtedly have little trouble in getting the edge on the Everett team. In the same measure the Matthews team should have little trouble in disposing of the coal men, who are going down hill so fast that sight has been lost of them in league circles for the past three weeks.

Plans and entries are rapidly being completed for the great handicap bowling tournament that is to be held for the "Y" members during the week of March 7. The two events, singles and two-man teams, are both handicaps and some close bowling will undoubtedly result. About one hundred entries in these events are expected. Suitable prizes will be awarded in all events. An additional bowling feature that may be promoted sometime in the near future that will create a great deal of interest and amusement will be a mixed double tournament; that is a man and his wife, compose a team and will total their score for three games against other scores made by similar teams.

OTHER OPINIONS ON THE SERVICE CHARGE

OPINION OF PENNSYLVANIA COMMISSION

"It is a popular error," the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission declared in a case against a gas company, "to say that a 'readiness-to-serve' charge requires consumers to pay for that which they do not receive. This is a wholly fallacious conception. Such charges are based upon the fact that the plant must be kept in a condition to render immediate service to each of its patrons whether he draws upon it or not. It costs the company money to be ready at all times to render such services. The real question which confronts the public and the commission is not with respect to the legality of such charges, but whether there be reasonableness in amount under the testimony."

Also an Extract From the Report of a Committee of Five Appointed by The Gloversville Chamber of Commerce, in the Gloversville Gas Case.

"After an analysis of the figures of the company we can see no grounds to recommend opposition to the proposed manner of increasing consumer gas costs and after careful study believe the proposed service charge to be more equitable to all consumers than either a minimum rate or an increased rate to $1.80 per 1,000 cubic feet. Under the proposed service charge your committee believes that every consumer of gas pays his equalized costs of the service and neither the small consumer nor the large consumer is compelled to carry a load that should be shared by both."

And Then to Repeat a Statement by the New York Commission.

"THERE SEEMS TO BE NO DECISION TO THE CONTRARY"

We Believe That All of Our Customers Will Approve of the SERVICE CHARGE After They See It In Operation.

BLOOMINGTON.

Bloomington, Jan. 26.—On Thursday morning, January 20, fifteen friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mrs. Sarah Livingston to help celebrate her 81st birthday. Many remembrances were sent by friends not able to be present. A bounteous dinner was served, after which all spent a pleasant afternoon. Many suggestions were offered on the art of keeping young, all hoping should they live to be 81 years of age they would be as young and active as Mrs. Livingston. After partaking of cake and coffee all departed with the hope of celebrating their hostess's 82nd birthday in the same happy manner.

Miss M. Barbera is spending a few weeks with relatives and friends in New York city.

Mrs. C. I. LeFever, Jr., has been ill for the past few days with neuralgia, but we hope soon for her recovery. Her mother, Mrs. J. H. Batchelor, and brother, of High Falls visited her on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Teubers and baby, who have been visiting for parents in the city for two weeks, have returned to their home here.

Dr. Sherman of Stone Ridge was called to this place on Friday to visit Mrs. Frank Van Benscot, who is ill of bronchitis.

Miss Ada Conner of Poughkeepsie spent one day last week with her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Bolton, and aunt, Florence.

Mrs. Doig returned on Saturday evening to her home on the state road after visiting her sister and relatives in Brooklyn for a week.
